SHIP - WRECKED SAILORS SAVED BY HEROIC ACTS

Two Seamen From Steamer
Gregory Swim 150 Yards
to Lifeboat From Oklahoma and Bring It and Five Men Within Reach of Lifeline.

SIX DROWN IN SIGHT OF THEIR RESCUERS

Bark Capsizes as Assistance
Is Sent - Survivors
Brought Into New York Laugh at Suggestion They Enter Hospital and Look for Refreshments.

By Licensed Wire From The New York
Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The Bothin liner
Gregory reached port today with five survivors of the wreck 100 miles from New York, of the tank steamer Oklahoma, and with a story of bravery, hardihood and endurance that has few equals in the annals of the sea.

Eleven men started from the sinking Okla. in the lifeboat which the Gregory picked up. They were six hours in the unshakable lifeboat which capsize
many times. A terrific storm was blowing and it was very cold. Although one of the men was dressed only in his underclothing, all the 11 were alive when the Gregory was sighted. The survivors crammed almost at the rescue ship's side,
but five were taken aboard and are fit
and sound today.

The survivors probably owe their lives to their remarkable strength and endurance. All five are magnificent physical specimens and were able to leave the ship unaided.

All are foreigners, and there was no
one to meet them here, except a representative of the Gulf Refining Co., their employers. Arrangements had been made to accommodate them at a hotel,
but they laughed at these preparations and started in a group down the street leading to the nearest place of refreshment.

Heroes Rescued Made.
To reach the lifeboat making the rescue Chief Officer Buck, Second Officer Roberts and Third Officer Williams dived into the sea and brought it within rescuing distance of the Gregory.

Roberts and Williams jumped first and swam 150 yards to the boat through mountainous seas.

They brought it to within 25 yards of the Gregory and then Buck dived, bearing a lifeline. By this time Williams and Roberts were almost as exhausted as the survivors in the boat. It had rained for the last time and six men were still clinging to it. The hands of one were frozen to the gunwale.

Buck tore him away and swam with him to the ladder of the Gregory, which had been lowered over the side. But he did not climb the ladder. He found that the man he bore was dead and let him sink into the sea.

He then went back to the survivors, and one by one brought them to the ladder where they were passed up to the deck. Williams and Roberts had been in the water nearly two hours.
They had been clinging to the bobbing
lifeboat holding it as steady as possible and assisting the occupants.

The five brought in today confirm the story that the great tank ship parted amidships without warning. The weather was very stormy and enormous seas were breaking aboard, when, with an agony of groans and cries, the vessel buckled, apparently suspended on two huge waves at stem and stern.

Health, a seaman, was on deck at the time, having just come on watch. The engines were racing and could not be stopped. All the engine-room force and those of the crew who were able, rushed to the decks. The mess boy, Kolsch, had on only his underwear.

Two boats were got away. One was crammed full. This was presumably the boat in which the revenue cutter
Sensay found three dead and one alive,
according to wireless reports received here. The other boat was a one in which the five were picked up.

Both boats were in extreme peril from the moment they were lowered over the sinking ship's side, who were abashed
and the racing screws which they barely missed threatened to smash
the boats to matchwood.

As they drifted away—soon to be separated—they saw Capt. Gunter and other amidships on the Okla. The five rescued knew nothing of his fate
until they reached New York and were surprised to learn that he and seven others had been saved by the Bavaria.

About 1:30 p. m. the Gregory moved in sight. They made frantic signals and rowed toward her. Eleven men were still in the boat at that time. Nearing the steamer the boat capsize and all were thrown into the icy water. They succeeded in fighting her and all, nearly frozen, painfully climbed to again. This happened again and again and by the time they got alongside the Gregory all were on the verge of collapse. Almost at the Gregory's side the craft again went over. This time six sank, never to be seen.

Besides the five survivors on the Gregory, the Bavaria, due in Boston today, has eight men whom she took off the lost part of the Okla. This part remained afloat through the storm nearly 20 hours in two. This resulting 11 of the crew were lost.

IM COMES THE INCOME TAX COLLECTOR.

"Hello! Is this
Jefferson City?
Connect me with the Penitentiary,
please. Hello! Is the Warden there?"
"The Warden's
busy just now, sir,
writing a eulogy
on Thomas Jeff-

he's doing."
"How about tomorrow?"
"He's sent for a set of Plutarch's Lives, and if they get here he'll be busy writing some essays about the ancients."

$20,000,000 WIDOW'S CHIMES CAUSE A SUIT

Neighbors Seek to Enjoin Former Nurse From Having Them Rung Every 15 Minutes.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Because Mrs.
Julia Gertrude Lyle, 35 years old, who last July inherited the bulk of the $20-million estate of her 36-year-old husband,
John S. Lyle, insists on having memorial chimes rung every 15 minutes, day
and night, on her estate near Tenafly, N. J., some of her neighbors have applied for an injunction.

Mrs. Lyle will have to respond Monday and give some reason why she should not hush the bells, at least during the sleeping hours.

Mrs. Lyle had the chimes placed on a 6-foot stone tower as a memorial to her husband. There are nine bells on a horn-tower, the highest weighing two tons.
The memorial was completed a month ago and since then either Mrs. Lyle's caretakers or one of her associates has played the chimes night and day, every quarter of an hour.

Lyle was the last surviving partner of the firm of Lord & Taylor. Two years previous to his death on his ninety-fourth birthday he married his nurse, Julia Gertrude Hannon.

SUPREME COURT SAYS HEAD IS PART OF BODY

Jasper Webb, Sentenced to Die, Gets New Trial on Prosecutor's Improper Argument.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 6.—The Supreme Court reversed and remanded today the case of Jasper Webb, who was sentenced to death for killing Ascha Whitwell at Oak Grove in Jackson County. The reversal was based upon improper argument by the Prosecuting Attorney.

When the case was tried the information was attacked on the ground that the prosecutor said Whitwell "died as a result of mortal wounds on the body."
The evidence showed his death was due to a shot in the head. It was argued the head is not a part of the body.
The Court found to the contrary.

HABIT OF EATING BITS OF STONE KILLS WOMAN

Mother Says Daughter, Dead at 30, Had Strange Craving
From Childhood.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 6.—A habit of eating bits of stone which she had caused the death of Mrs. Grace Smock Albino, 30 years old, who died at a hospital here. An autopsy revealed a diseased condition of her stomach and intestines probably induced, the Coroner said, from eating rock.

Mrs. Albino's mother said that from childhood her daughter had had a craving for bits of stone which she chewed and swallowed.

ARRESTS FOLLOW REAL 'MOVIE' SCENE IN BRIDE'S BOUDOIR

"Who's It to Be? Me or Him?" Cries Jilted Suitor as Bridegroom Toils at Furnace.

HELD ON TWO CHARGES

Walter Ruedi Accused of Impersonating Detective and of Selling Fiancee's Heirlooms.

Bridegroom of three days in the basement feeding the furnace. Bride in her boudoir. Enter, hurriedly, the rejected suitor who dramatically exclaims:
"Well, which is it? Me or him?"
This scene, full of moving picture possibilities, was described by Mrs. Lil-lan C. Heistand, 35 years old, of 1419
North Park place, after Walter Ruedi of 306 McNair avenue, the discarded fiancee, had been arrested twice in one day on complaints made by Mrs. Heistand and her stepson, William F. Lambrecht, a druggist at 211 South Jefferson avenue.

Arrested by Federal Officers.
Ruedi was arrested by Federal officers
Monday on the charge that he had represented himself to Lambrecht as a United States Secret Service agent. After being released on bond he was arrested by the police and held pending
an application for a warrant charging him with wrongfully obtaining valuable heirlooms from Mrs. Heistand and disposing of them.

Investigation by the police showed that the missing heirlooms, consisting of a grandfather clock, a gold clock,
a set of silverware, rugs and jewelry and several pictures were at Ruedi's home
where he lived with his parents, Mr.
and Mrs. John Ruedi. The goods were placed in a police wagon and taken to the Magnolia avenue station. Ruedi's father said his son sold the heirlooms
to him for $40.

Mrs. Heistand Pleads for Son.
Mrs. Ruedi pleaded with Mrs. Heistand and the police, begging them not to prosecute her son.

"Clarettes have got the best of him,"
she said.

Mrs. Heistand knew Ruedi as Walter
A. Rowland until Dec. 23, when Ruedi's parents visited the Heistand home and revealed the young man's identity.

This visit, as described by Mrs. Heistand, was dramatic. The doorbell rang.
Mr. and Mrs. Heistand, who had been married only five days, went to the door. An elderly man and woman were there.

"Did you sell some furniture to Walter Ruedi?" she asked.

"I never heard of him," said Mrs. Heistand.

"Why do you come here and bother
us?" asked Heistand.

Mrs. Ruedi identified herself.

The Heistands then in reply to this question the woman visitor threw back her jacket and displayed a star-shaped Christmas tree decoration and said she was a secret service detective.

When she became calmer she made herself known as Mrs. Ruedi.

The Ruedis told the police they in an effort to verify their son's statement that he had bought the goods which he sold them for $40.

Mrs. Heistand says that early in October Ruedi, under the name of Rowland, went to her home and asked questions about her stepson, Lambrecht. He told her she was a shrewd woman and would make an ideal secret service detective. He agreed to coach her and two weeks later he proposed marriage and was accepted. Later he suggested that Mrs. Heistand place her heirlooms in storage. She alleges that he had the things removed from the house and then disappeared. She married Heistand
Dec. 23.

When Ruedi rushed into her home,
Dec. 23, and demanded that she choose between him and her husband, Mrs.
Heistand ordered him out of the house,
she said. Before he departed he went to the basement and shook hands with Heistand.

Ruedi's parents say he was away
from home for two days after his visit to the Heistands and that when he returned he said he had been stabbed in the chest in a desperate battle with moonshiners in St. Louis County. In proof he exhibited a towel with which he said he had stashed the wound.

SHAW STRIVING TO CURE DRUG HABIT AND RE-WIN WIFE

Millionaire's Son Divorced by Former Acrata von Schrader
Is in Bay State Hospital.

CHOPPING BRUSH DAILY

His Fall Through Ice and Rescue Reveals Effort He Is Making
to "Come Back."

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
BOSTON, Jan. 6.—Because the ice was thin on a pond down near the Foxboro
State Hospital for Dipomanics, there has come to light the story of a man's fight to "come back." The man is Arthur Hunnewell Shaw, who bears the name of one of the great generals of the Civil War.

Arthur Hunnewell Shaw was divorced
recently. His wife was formerly Acrata von Schrader of St. Louis, the daughter of Otto von Schrader. He married her two years ago. She divorced him because he was a "confirmed" drinker and used opium and other drugs. But he is making a fight to prove he was not a "confirmed" drinker.

Shaw's sorrowful secret. He took
in his efforts by the love of his mother, Mrs. Robert Gould Shaw. He entered the hospital voluntarily and began his fight for freedom from drink and drugs.
His friends say he hopes to win back his wife.

His presence in Foxboro became known when he started out from the hospital to his work of chopping brush
and broke through the ice of a pond
in making a narrow cut to the woods.
He fought for 15 minutes in the icy water to keep alive before he was rescued.

Confided Secret to Bride.
Shaw is a young man. He was graduated from Harvard in 1908. Although his father is a millionaire, he went to work for his living. He supported himself and went to Chicago, and from St. Louis in 1911 came the word of his marriage there to beautiful young Acrata von Schrader. He took his bride to Europe for a honeymoon—
then returned to Boston.

Those who welcomed them here say
they appeared the happiest of couples, but already the young bride was nursing a secret. She told him that her honeymoon Shaw had confessed to her that he was addicted to drugs.
With her support he fought the habit,
but his will was not strong enough.

In the language of the psychology
he had not received the mental "kick" which would give him determination to fight.

In April of last year—1913—Mrs.
Shaw went to Europe. Shaw went to Europe. And two weeks ago she was granted a divorce decree.

Decree Gives Him the "Kick." That decree gave Shaw the "kick" he needed. He went to his mother for help. They took counsel together and afterward Shaw resolved that he would go to Foxboro—take the rigorous treatment there—cleanse himself of the craving
for liquor and drugs.

Shaw for three weeks has kept his purposes strong and unbroken.

At the hospital Shaw arises at 6 o'clock every morning. At 6:30 he is breakfasting. This is his breakfast: A coarse cereal, eggs, coffee, bread.

He takes his breakfast at 6:30. His breakfast—taken perhaps at half past nine or thereabouts—was something like this: Grape fruit, a taste of cereal, a chop—perhaps an egg—coffee,
toast, marmalade, honey, and butter.

After breakfast Shaw has an hour
free. At 8 o'clock he goes to Dr.
Neff's office for consultation, for advice, for strengthening counsel. Half an hour later, with the other men, he takes an ax or brush hook and goes into the woods. There follows three hours and a half of hard work. It was torture at first to Shaw's muscles. Now he can hold up his end with the best.

Not Lunch, but Dinner.
At noon, sharp, there comes a respite
—dinner.
Dinner? Not lunch, but dinner? Not a meal or a trifle of this and that, fit only to whet a lapsed appetite, but a man-sized dinner, for a man who has been putting in his besticks at good, man-sized work. That's what Shaw gets at Foxboro—and he isn't the man
these days, to leave his plate unpolished.

Corned beef and cabbage, hamburger
steak, boiled ham, potatoes, carrots, bread pudding—whatever they set before him—he eats it, with a voracious appetite.

Remarks by the officiating clergyman, "Old Man's Funeral," Bryant
Hymn, "Nearer, My God, to Thee."
Masonic ceremonies.

The services will be carried out,
except as to the Masonic rites, at All Souls' Unitarian Church tomorrow
afternoon. Burial will be at Arlington
National Cemetery with Masonic and
military honors.

PRESIDENT TO END HIS VACATION ON SUNDAY
Will Arrive in Washington Next Tuesday From Pass Christian;
in Excellent Health.

75 MEN DROWNED IN CANADA WHEN BOAT IS SWAMPED

Laborers, Thrown in Frazer River Are Dashed on Rocks or Swept Away.

By Associated Press.
WINNIPEG, Man., Jan. 6.—Dashed
to death on the rocks in the treacherous Fraser River, British Columbia or swept to their doom by the swift current was the fate of 75 laborers employed by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railroad, according to Angele Englesone, one of the 25 who managed to escape when the flatboat in which they were being transported across the river was wrecked on a rock.

He reached Winnipeg today. Pupils said that the 25 who escaped were all more or less injured. The tragedy occurred in British Columbia, West of Fort George.

For a time, the only survivor to reach Winnipeg says, they were kept in the immediate vicinity of the fort. A change in the location of the work necessitated
the crossing of the Fraser. The 100 laborers put away from shore in a flat craft, which became unmanageable. It was dashed to pieces on a rock in the middle of the torrent and the men were thrown into the water.

Swimming in the raging waters
was next to impossible and but 25
of the 100 reached shore, battered and bruised. Pupils reached an Edmonton hospital and after recovering sufficiently came to Winnipeg and applied to the immigration officers for aid.

OWN FUNERAL PLANNED BY PORTO RICO JUDGE

Order of Services Arranged by Justice McLeary Will Be Carried Out Wednesday.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Recognizing that his death was inevitable and near at hand, James Harvey McLeary, Justice of the Supreme Court of Porto Rico, who died here yesterday, made all plans for a funeral. This fact came to light today. This is the service as planned by Justice McLeary:

Hymn, "Face to Face."
Poem, "After Death in Arabia."
Remarks by the officiating clergy-
man, "Old Man's Funeral," Bryant
Hymn, "Nearer, My God, to Thee."
Masonic ceremonies.

The services will be carried out,
except as to the Masonic rites, at All
Souls' Unitarian Church tomorrow
afternoon. Burial will be at Arlington
National Cemetery with Masonic and
military honors.

PRESIDENT TO END HIS
Will Arrive in Washington Next Tuesday From Pass Christian;
in Excellent Health.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—President
Wilson will end his southern vacation and leave Pass Christian, Miss., at 11 o'clock Sunday night, arriving in Washington some time next Tuesday. A telegram received by Secretary Tamm today from Dr. Cary T.
Grayson, the President's aid, announced the plan and said that the President was in excellent health.

UNION PACIFIC TO MAKE STOCK DISTRIBUTION
Baltimore and Ohio Shares for $82,000,000 to Be Divided, in New Plan.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The Executive Committee of the Union Pacific Railroad Co. announced today that it would recommend the distribution
among its stockholders of the Baltimore & Ohio stock owned by the company and valued at about $82, 000,000, together with $1 per share in cash. Estimated on the present market value of Baltimore & Ohio stock,
this is equivalent to an extra dividend of 25 per cent.

The Executive Committee will lay
this recommendation before the Board of Directors which meets Thursday.
It recommends also that if this distribution is carried into effect the regular annual dividend be considerably reduced. That is, from 10 per cent to 5 per cent.

24 DYNAMITERS' SENTENCES UPHELD; 6 CASES REVERSED

Court of Appeals Sustains Prison Terms for President Ryan and Other Iron Workers, Including Berry and Morrin of St. Louis—
New Trial Granted to Tveitmoose—Cases to Go to Supreme Court.

By Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—The judgment of the Federal District Court at Indianapolis, sentencing to prison 30 members of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers was affirmed today by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals here in 24 cases. Six cases were reversed.

The cases reversed were remanded to the lower court for retrial. The defendants in these cases are:
Olaf A. Tveitmoose, San Francisco.
William McCain, Kansas City, Mo.
James E. Ray, Peoria, Ill.
Richard H. Houlihan, Chicago.
Fred Sherman, Indianapolis, Ind.
William Bernhard, Cincinnati, O.

Ryan's Seven-Year Term Upheld.
The sentence of seven years of penal servitude against Frank M. Ryan of Chicago, president of the union, was affirmed. There were 23 convictions on charges of conspiracy to transport dynamite illegally. Two of the convicted men did not appeal. All but six of those who appealed are at liberty under bond.

Among those whose cases were affirmed are Paul Morrin and John Berry of St. Louis. Both were sent to Leavenworth prison after being convicted, but later were released on bond.

Ryan was the only one of the convicted men present in court when the decision was announced. No effort will be made by the Government to compel the return to prison of the men denied retrial pending the hearing of the appeal for a rehearing of the case. If this petition is denied it was announced by N. E. Goline of counsel for the convicted dynamiters that an appeal would be taken to the United States Supreme Court. The decision reads in respect to the appeal of Ryan:

"This plaintiff was president of the association and its active manager. Letters written by him at various stages
show his familiarity with the long course of destroying open shop structures. Ryan wrote the letter suggesting dynamite. He was the one who discovered the dynamite and was active in planning its use. He signed all of the checks presented in evidence as used for the purchase of explosives. Ryan's own testimony confirms the evidence of his complicity."

Berry Admitted the Bombs.
John H. Berry of St. Louis admitted the books of the association with apparent reference to explosion expenditures,
as did Charles N. Beum of Minneapolis,
according to the decision. Henry W.
Leggettner of Pittsburgh, personally declared to John McNamara a case for explosives and dynamite and was active in planning explosions.

Paul T. Morrin of St. Louis, William
F. Reddin of Milwaukee, Michael J.
Hannon of St. Louis, Pa.; Murray L.
Pennell of Springfield, Ill., and W. Bert Brown of Kansas City are declared fully implied by Orin McManis' evidence.

The other men who failed in their appeal are: Edward Smythe of Peoria, Ill.; George Anderson of Cleveland, Frank J. Higgins, Frank H. Painter of Omaha, Neb.; Fred J. Mooney of Duluth, Minn.; William Shupe of Chicago,
Michael J. Cunnane of Philadelphia, Eugene A. Clang of San Francisco, Michael J. Young of Boston, Frank C. Webb of New York, Philip A. Cooley of New Orleans and John T. Butler of Buffalo, second vice-president of the organization.

In reversing the convictions of Tveit-
moose, McCain, Ray, Houlihan, Sherman and Bernhard the decision says:
"We are of the opinion that evidence is insufficient to establish a prima facie
case of co-partnership in the offense charged against any of them. Their sympathy and participation in the general objects of the organization may be assumed from evidence, but we are not advised of proof of their actual participation in any of the offenses charged in the indictments."

"In reference to Tveitmoose, the fact that he is not a member of the association is not important. On the other hand, his undoubted sympathy with and co-operation in the great strike in California does not involve complicity in the conspiracy."

"Tveitmoose Case Insignificant."
The testimony by McNamara of reference to dynamite by Tveitmoose as
"the old man of the coast" who "wanted
a Christmas gift" was not sufficient to identify Tveitmoose with the conspiracy.

"The testimony cited against the other five men granted a retrial does not require specification except as to Ray and Sherman. In each of these cases we found cause for hesitation on the question of identity."

"The cases of all six therefore are remanded to the District Court for a new trial for each."

The arguments for the appeal were heard by Federal Judge Kohlsaat, Baltimore and Ohio shares for several days after Nov. 10. The Government was represented by Charles W. Linn, Jr.
Counsel for Ryan & Co. was represented by John H. Linn.

DIES AT THE AGE OF 105 Oldest Connecticut Man Was One of 19 Children.

SOUTH NORWALK, Conn., Jan. 6.— John Weeks, who for many years had the distinction of being the oldest man in the State, died at his home here today at the age of 105 years and 4 months.
He was one of 19 children. A sister, Mrs. Fannie White of Wilton, now 93, is the sole survivor of the family. The youngest of six was 6.

His last illness was more likely to be recovered through the Post-Dispatch than through any other means. He was so many years old that many people thought he was dead.

FRISCO STOCK MAY BE ASSESSED FOR 6 OR 10 MILLIONS

Receiver Lusk Confirms New York Dispatch Regarding Reorganization Plan.

AGREEMENT IS NECESSARY

Judge Sanborn Said to Desire End of Receivership by Next May.

James W. Lusk, one of the receivers of the Frisco Railroad, Tuesday told a Post-Dispatch reporter that a news dispatch from New York telling of plans favored by United States Judge Sanborn for the ending of the receivership by next May, one year from the time when it began, was virtually correct. Judge Sanborn declined to talk about the matter.

An important detail of this plan, as set forth in the dispatch, is the assessment of Frisco stockholders for three or four times the present market value of their stock, in order to obtain the $6,000,000 to $10,000,000 which is needed to put the road on its feet financially.

Assessment by Agreement.—A man familiar with the situation, who would not permit his name to be used, said that an assessment would come only by agreement of the stockholders and security holders. A majority of these, he said, would have to agree, through representatives, on a plan of reorganization, and having determined the amount of money needed, would agree to an assessment sufficient to raise it.

The assessment, this man said, would probably be from 10 to 25 per cent of the par value of the stock. The par value being $10 a share, this would mean $10 to $25 a share. Frisco common stock is now selling at $3.75 to $4 a share, so that the proposed assessment would be two to five times what the stock is now worth.

No one can assess the stockholders against the will of a majority of them, this man declared. Nor can stockholders who may not wish to pay be compelled to do so by suits. They can keep their stock, and in the reorganization, can take their chances of getting something out of the distribution of the old company's assets.

When Receiver Lusk was asked what effect the ending of the receivership would have on the suits to be brought, under his direction, for the restitution of profits made by directors in the Brownsville syndicate deal, he said the suits would be unaffected by any change in the control of the road. The suits are to be brought by Lusk, on the order of Judge Sanborn, and with John D. and Loomis C. Johnson as counsel.

Banks to Take Certificates.—Lusk said that a syndicate of five St. Louis banks would take $500,000 of the receivers' certificates, in $500 and $1000 denominations, which have been placed on the market here by Thomas H. West, chairman of the board of directors of the St. Louis Union Trust Co. and former receiver.

The sale of the half million of certificates here, and the sale of $1,000,000 of them in New York by Lusk recently, are important steps toward the winding up of the receivership.

Lusk Confers With Yeakum.—On his recent visit to New York, Lusk conferred with bankers and with B. F. Yeakum and others largely interested in the Frisco, concerning the plan to end the receivership. The order of term note of $2,500,000 which the Frisco was unable to meet, is one of the most important obligations to be met.

The Frisco has been making money under the receivership, and in spite of reduced rates will be able to meet current obligations from its earnings.

$200,000 Bequest for Cardinal.—BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 4.—As a result of a bequest under Miss Eliza Andrews' will, which was probated yesterday, Cardinal Gibbons may receive between $200,000 and $300,000. The Cardinal said the money would be used for Catholic educational work.

DOG WHICH GRIEVES FOR DAILY CAR RIDES

Matthew T. Martin Tries to Get Policy, So Pet Can Resume Seat on Sand Box.

DOG ON CAR BITES

A London insurance agency, which has issued almost every conceivable policy of insurance, may be called upon to insure the United Railways for $500 against the probability of "Tuck" biting any passengers on the Olive and Sarah cars.

"Tuck" is an 11-pound black and tan dog owned by Matthew T. Martin of 4235 Lee avenue, president of the Cedar Express Co., 13 North Fifteenth street. In four and one-half years the dog has made about 800 trips of more than four miles each, or a total of nearly 13,000 miles. He always rides the sand box on the front platform, and if that is occupied he waits patiently for the passenger to get off the car, whereupon he jumps up and takes his accustomed seat.

But since New Year's day Tuck has been at home, whining with grief. He is a canine aristocrat, but that availed nothing, for when New Year's day came, just like all the Fidos, Tiges, Brunos and Rovers in St. Louis, he ceased to be a United Railways passenger.

Dog Bites Cost Money.—Capt. McCulloch, president and general manager of the United Railways, published advertisements 7, 14, 14, informing the public that with the advent of 1914 dogs would not be carried on the cars. Figuratively speaking, the law previously bit a big chunk out of the United Railways' bank account in Circuit Judge Fisher's court when a jury gave to Albert J. Good of 4615 Easton avenue a judgment for $700 because a dog on a street car bit him. A few months before that a jury awarded an $800 judgment to a passenger who also had been bitten by a dog on a street car.

Capt. McCulloch said that as jurists twice had held the company responsible for the conduct of dogs permitted to ride on its cars, the company had decided to take no more chances.

"Tuck's" owner visited Bruce Cameron, superintendent of transportation for the United Railways, on Dec. 30, and asked what arrangements could be made for the dog to keep on riding the sand boxes in accompanying his master to his downtown office and back home seven days a week, as he had done for four and one-half years.

"If you can arrange to take out insurance so that the United Railways can collect $500 if your dog bites a passenger, we'll issue the permit," Supt. Cameron replied.

He Does It After Taking Risk.—Martin has asked three insurance companies in St. Louis to take the risk, but the companies' lawyers have not yet given an opinion of the advisability of accepting this new form of risk.

"Lloyd's, they say, will insure anything, so as a last resort I may have to go to them," Martin told a reporter Tuesday at a downtown broker's office, where the story of the dog's plight has been going among speculators for several days.

COLE DEMURRER IS FILED
Amedee B. Cole Attacks Plan to End Trusteeship.

Amedee B. Cole filed a demurrer Tuesday to the suit recently begun by Richard H. Cole and Mrs. Hallie Cole, his brother and sister, praying for the termination of the trust agreement under which Attorney Frederick N. Judson controls the estate of the late Nathan Cole.

When the suit was originally filed, Amedee Cole filed a petition requesting that the prayer be granted. His demurrer indicates that he has changed his attitude in the fight which has been going on among the heirs of the estate.

The estate is said to be worth about $500,000, and the income goes to Mrs. Rebecca L. Cole, widow of Nathan Cole.

BRIDEGROOM ARRESTED AGAIN ON THEFT CHARGE
Man Who Wed After Release From Workhouse Accused of Taking Geese.

Charles Miller, 23 years old, of 1217 Boulevard street, who a year ago was sentenced to six months in the Federal penitentiary for the theft of geese and chickens, was arrested again Monday night for larceny, and the work of six months went over the failure of her first effort to reform him.

When Miller was sentenced he was ill. He was transferred to the city hospital as a prisoner. There he aroused the sympathies of Mary Slask. They were married after Miller's release.

Nov. 20 Miller was employed by John Frey, a commission merchant of 420 Wash street, to peddle geese and chickens. With Miller, Frey sent Morris Bern of 1830 Biddle street. At 1409 South Seventh street, Bern said, Miller took nine geese to Mrs. Sophie Handel. He sold her one and asked if he could leave the other eight in the basement for a while. Farther down the street, Bern said, Miller went into an alley and disappeared.

FIREMAN BITTEN BY DOG

Patrick J. Caserly, a city fireman of Engine Company No. 43, at 722 North King's highway, while walking in front of 302 North King's highway Monday at 8 p. m. was attacked and bitten on the right knee by a dog in custody of Miss Marie Adams of 600 Fountain avenue. The dog is being held at the home pending instructions from the city bacteriologist.

Miss Marie Adams, the girl's mother, told the police the dog belonged to her son-in-law, of Webster Groves, and carried no city license for that reason. She was summoned to appear in the Dayton Street Court Tuesday.

Caserly's injuries are not serious. The dog is being held at the home pending instructions from the city bacteriologist.

Madame Piermont will leave Wednesday night. Be sure to see her exhibit of Misses' Apparel, tomorrow.

Our Showing of Muslin Underwear

Is Breaking All Past Records Owing to the Greatly Increased Space for Display at Our Command

The Muslin Underwear in our January Sale is shown this year in far larger quantities and varieties than at any previous season. This is possible because of the largely increased space which is now devoted to this department.

The following are slightly suggestive ideas of the many remarkable values in domestic muslinwear which limited space prevents our quoting.

Women's Drawers in Princess shape trimmed with either Barmen lace or scalloped embroidery. Sale price 25c

Corset Covers—two special values—one is trimmed with fancy open-embroidery insertion and wide ribbon and Val lace insertions; the other has Swiss medallions and Barmen lace insertions. Sale price 48c

An attractive Knickerbocker Drawer is of nainsook with wide eyelet ribbon heading and Val lace. Sale price 75c

Crepe Nightgowns are shown in various pretty styles made in Empire effect in either pink or blue; also white, pink or blue Crepe Slipover Nightgowns with Barmen lace trimming and Figured Crepe Nightgowns. Choice at our special sale price of 98c

We have a large showing also of Machine-embroidered Muslin Undergarments in imitation of the French handmade kinds. They may be had in the following:

Corset Covers at 45c to $1.00
White Petticoats at 48c to $1.98
Nightgowns at 48c to $3.75

New Spring Wash Goods

A recent arrival of some of the prettiest new Spring Wash Goods makes a visit to this section especially worth while. The Spring stock, which is being supplemented daily, includes such well-known and popular fabrics as:

Would you know the styles exactly as they are for 1914?

Would you see them at close view—right at hand where you can study them fully?

Then Come This Week to Our Exhibit of

Paris Gowns & Blouses

Magazines have hinted—news-papers have hinted—even publications devoted solely to Fashion have hinted—but

"We Have the Goods."

Months ago, we began the arrangements through our Paris agents for this first authentic display of the new styles. By great good fortune, we succeeded in securing the co-operation of FOREMOST PARISIAN COUTURIERS:

Maison Nicole

—world noted authorities, masters in the realm of fashion. They made up for us more than 200 distinctive models in GOWNS AND BLOUSES—they even sent all the way from Paris,

M. Maurice Vyault

—their personal representative, to be in attendance at this great event to tell you of the many styles shown.

Come any day this week. The exhibition is entirely free—you can spend as much time as you wish, can make as many notes as you wish for guidance in selecting your next season's dress.

Any of these Gowns and Blouses can be purchased. They are unsurpassed for the Southern resorts.

We are showing them in a rich setting of draperies, beautiful oil paintings and flowers.

You will be decidedly interested in a collection of hand painted fans shown in connection with this event. They are of exquisitely carved ivory and mother of pearl.

Important Notice:

We are now making our annual display of Hats and Parasols for the Southern resorts.

From the Republic Jan. 4th

"Tango" is to be the fashionable color this spring, according to Maurice Vyault, famous designer of gowns for Maison Nicole, who has just arrived from Paris and is at Hotel Jefferson. The "Tango" is a blend between yellow and copper and is new to even the most up-to-date Parisian.

M. Vyault arrived in New York last week on the French liner La Savoie and came direct to St. Louis to supervise an exhibition this week at the B. Nugent & Bro. Dry Goods Company store, of gowns and blouses such as will be worn in Paris next spring and summer.

These Parisian creations are to be exhibited in a specially inclosed room. It will be attractively decorated with draperies, flowers and paintings harmonious with the color scheme.

It is the first display of America of importations from Nicole in advance of a showing in the house in Paris.

Expect Color to Prevail.

"I think the well-dressed woman in America will be pleased with the 'Tango' color," said M. Vyault yesterday at Nugent's store. It is indeed rich and artistic. It blends beautifully with any other color. There is very little white in the gowns we have created for next spring, and summer, although there is just enough in most of our gowns to harmonize with the other colors.

"For afternoon dresses, tailored and charming in light shades will be in vogue this spring on the boulevards of Paris, as well as in America. I have brought many of these creations with me. I think the dresses this year will be more artistic and graceful than ever before in my long experience as a designer. They will not be frilly in the least or will they be dressy to make the wearer overconfident."

Light Colors to Prevail.

"They will appear rich and artistic. The light colors may seem strange to some American women used to stout colors, but to be in the fashion, it will be necessary for society to recognize the fact that bright colors are in vogue, or rather, will be so for the spring and summer."

"Most of our more expensive gowns are hand-embroidered. The work is done by peasants in the Vosges district of France, and probably is the finest of its kind in the world. The girls who do the needle work are not overpaid, and the gowns are not as costly as might be expected."

"For summer wear, light materials, such as crepons and gauzes will be in vogue. The waists will still be cut low, as collars will not be worn. The length of the sleeves will be reduced materially."

M. Vyault will return to Paris this month to start designing winter dresses. Next summer he will visit Dinard and Deauville, the fashionable watering resorts in France, where creates his styles.

WHITE SALE A GREAT SUCCESS

Patrons Say "It's Wonderful"—the Qualities, the Variety for Choice and the Values Rousing Intensive Buying

It's the greatest White Sale we have ever held. It began Monday with an enthusiasm that has grown steadily—increasing so noticeably we are certain this sale is receiving much "Word-of-Mouth Advertising."

There is so much shown in this sale that is distinctively new—in Undermuslins, White Waists, Embroideries, White Goods, Sheets and Pillowcases, etc., that it is well worth coming here even merely to see.

ST. LOUIS FUR SALE NETS
$87,660 FOR GOVERNMENT

Secretary Redfield Declares Prices Were Higher Than Obtained in London.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—A check for $87,660 appeared at the Department of Commerce yesterday, made out to Secretary Redfield, which was for the Government sale of Alaskan seal and blue and white fox skins recently held in St. Louis.

This check the Secretary signed over to the Treasury to be turned into the miscellaneous fund of the Government. He accompanied it with a letter expressing his gratification at the results of the sale, the first held in America. Secretary Redfield said that the seal skins had brought from 3 to 5 per cent and the fox skins from 10 to 15 per cent more than at previous sales in London. A penny check was received the same day by George Johnson, disbursing officer of the department, who formerly held a similar position at the Census Bureau. When he turned over his accounts, the Treasury Department decided he had cheated himself out of 1 cent and returned it in the form of a check.

DO NOT hesitate because you haven't the cash. Buy the diamond engagement ring from Louis Bros., 24 floor, 508 N. 6th st.

Revenue Cutter Andra Floated. BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 6.—The revenue cutter Andra, which went aground near Cove Point, in the Chesapeake Bay, about 7 miles from Baltimore, during a gale, was floated yesterday afternoon. No damage has been discovered. The Andra, which had just left the repair dock.

FORMER MAYOR LEE OF SPRINGFIELD (MO.) WEDS

Nurse Is Third Bride, the Second Being His Appointee as Police Matron.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Jan. 6.—Robert E. Lee, former Mayor of Springfield and vice-president of the Missouri State Bar, was married in Springfield yesterday, according to word received by relatives here.

The wedding was a surprise to friends here. They will spend their honeymoon in Florida.

This is Lee's third matrimonial venture. He was married to Mrs. Kate Cousins, his appointee as Police Matron, when he was in office as Mayor. They separated soon after the marriage.

FREEHOLDERS SAY
CITY PAPER SHOULD NOT BE BOOSTER

Charter Board of Opinion Proposed Journal Ought Not Be Officials' Organ.

The attention of the Board of Freeholders, which resumed its work of charter making at the Municipal Court building Monday night, is now centered upon these questions:

Shall St. Louis have a municipal journal or newspaper? Shall the journal or newspaper, if authorized, be used solely for the publication of ordinances, reports of board meetings and other official matters, or shall the Mayor and the administration be permitted to use it to boost and defend themselves or the city?

Andrew Linn Boettwick, Municipal Reference Librarian, submitted to the board members for their examination copies of municipal journals published in several cities. Some of these papers published nothing except official matter, while others devoted their space to boosting the city in which they were published or the city officials who had control of their editorial columns.

Baltimore Paper a Booster. The "Municipal Journal" of Baltimore represented the most advanced type of a city newspaper used for boosting city officials. Pictures of the officials were printed, with long stories telling in detail of the work they had accomplished. Nothing of a derogatory nature to any city official appeared in the copies of the Baltimore paper.

The official opinions of the board members indicated that they were opposed to a paper of that character. They appeared to think it would be an imposition on the people of the city to furnish the Mayor and the members of his administration an organ, at public expense, in which to boost themselves, or defend themselves when criticized for their official acts.

"Do any of these official papers publish the misdeeds of city officers?" asked Chairman McDonald. "Not that I have been able to discover," said Librarian Boettwick. "I suppose they think the daily newspapers will attend to that. I believe the Baltimore paper was created largely because the city officials thought they were not getting a square deal from the newspapers, and wished to have an organ to defend themselves."

The consensus of opinion seemed to be that the Boston City Record was the most nearly ideal type of municipal newspaper. This is a weekly journal, which publishes all official matters required by law to be published. The yearly cost of the paper was estimated at $10,000. The subscription price is $1 a year, and each city department having official advertising to publish, is charged the regular advertising rate. The department pays the municipal paper for the advertising.

Every stock embraced in the gigantic clearaway is new, fresh & clean; all merchandise offered is correct as to style & thoroughly trustworthy in character.

People who are now supplying the personal & household needs are effecting earnings the like of which are not to be had often, & which are of primal importance to the thrifty. The appended list is an epitome of what notable economies are to be encountered.

The January Linen Sale
 THIS small section, devoted to the announcement of this annual occasion, tells more good news than can often be printed in a much larger space. Its message is merely that the best linen buying chances St. Louis has ever known are now offered here. Evidence of this is given in the spirited buying that continues in this, the second week of the notable event.

Take an inventory of the linen needs, come here & effect these noteworthy savings.

All goods returned for exchange or for refund MUST be accompanied by the original sales check.

WOMAN MANAGER OUT; 50 BACHELORS CARE FREE AGAIN

Housekeeper at "The Lodge" Lasts Only Three Days, Then Man Comes Back.

Fifty bachelors whose home is The Lodge, an apartment house at 5512 Eitel avenue, are again on, so gay and free. For three days they were tethered to apron strings. For three days they were mothered and felt that they were expected to be good boys. Some of them even tried to be good boys, and cut a sorry figure at it.

Then they struck. They gave the owners of The Lodge to understand that they had been wearing long trousers for quite a long time and did not need to be mothered. They demanded a man manager and won.

The Lodge was opened about a year ago. From the first it was reserved for bachelors. No women were allowed. A. M. Suhler was the manager. The only regulation was that there must be no music after 11:30 p. m., because some of the younger bachelors liked to put themselves to bed about that hour.

Shortly before Jan. 1 Suhler was notified that his contract would not be renewed. He learned that the owners thought a woman was needed about the place, to look after the cuisine and mother the bachelors.

New Year's day Miss Lena Schuh of 3544 Victor street, an experienced housekeeper, whose years about equaled the number of the Lodge's bachelors, took charge. She decorated the breakfast table as a New Year greeting to her family and seated herself in the dining room prepared to receive and return the compliments of the season.

But the bachelors, who had discussed the change, had already decided that they did not want a woman to run the Lodge. So Miss Schuh, being excluded in advance from their affections, did not get one friendly glance from the rather embarrassed men as they took their places at the table, and she heard not a word of greeting or appreciation during the day.

Quits After Three Days.

Miss Schuh did not venture into the dining room again and the handsome suite of rooms provided for her lost its attraction after the first night. After three days at the Lodge, she was ready to acquiesce in the decision of the owners that the old order of things should be restored. This had been demanded by a committee, headed by Michael Murray.

Suhler was placed temporarily in charge. The bachelors are circulating a petition to the owners, asking that Suhler be kept until April 1 at least and promising to help him make a better showing financially than that of last year.

Paterfamilias Routed by Fire.

PATERSON, N. J., Jan. 6.—Fire early today destroyed the Paterfamilias Opera House and threatened many neighboring buildings. From which the police ordered more than 200 families. The loss was estimated at $100,000.

MICHIGAN STRIKE INQUIRY IS BEGUN BY THE GOVERNOR

Executive Hears Business Men and Copper Miners' Leaders on His 61st Birthday.

By Associated Press.

HOUGHTON, Mich., Jan. 6.—Gov. Woodbridge N. Ferris of Michigan, celebrated his 61st birthday today by plunging into the task of unravelling the copper strike tangle. He visited Sheriff Cruse of Houghton County at the latter's home, but the Sheriff is too ill to leave his bed.

Other officials having to do with the maintenance of law and order in this and Keweenaw Counties, came to the Governor's room. After they had been questioned the State executive received representatives of the mining companies and of the Western Federation of Miners, business men and citizens generally.

The union leaders came by formal appointment. The Governor received a letter today signed by O. N. Hilton, chief of counsel for the Federation and Claude O. Taylor, head of the Michigan State Federation of Labor. They asked that he appoint a time to receive them and some of the local labor leaders.

McClungology

By W. H. JAMES.

NOW, listen, County Chairmen, and I'll tell you all the tale
How Thomas J. Methuselah was swallowed by the whale,
How Moses went to heaven in a chariot of fire,
And the poet, Eschylus, he smote his blooming lyre;
How Caesar stabbed old Brutus in the Roman city hall,
As you will find recorded in Macaulay's "Rise and Fall";
How Roosevelt cut the Gordian knot that held the foxes fast;
How Plato found the golden fleece and nailed it to the mast;
How Barthold crossed the Delaware when it was full of ice,
And Rockefeller walked because he didn't have the price.
And how the famous Light Brigade it used a wooden horse
To lick the Huns and Visigoths and fill them with remorse;
How Andrew Jackson whipped the Moors in Fourteen-ninety-two
And Ella Wheeler Wilcox wrote "The Taming of the Shrew."
I'll tell you all how Jefferson invented aeroplanes,
And when he got them working right he told it to the Danes;
How Socrates was put in jail for tilting up the lid,
And Jacob got Goliath's goat when he was just a kid;
How Taft slid down to second when the series was a tie;
How the great and only Edison invented pumpkin pie;
How the free bridge was completed by a man named Henry Kiel;
O, in fact the whole of history I am ready to reveal.
Everywhere in old Missouri where a letter box is hung
You may bet they're waiting eager for a message from McClung.

CAPITAL DOESN'T EXPECT RECALL OF O'SHAUGHNESSY

State Department Men, in Bryan's Absence, Point to Endorsement of Charge's Work.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—State Department officials do not credit reports that Charge O'Shaughnessy is to be recalled from Mexico City. Although Secretary Bryan is absent and other officials here have not learned the conclusions reached at the conference between President Wilson and John Lind at Pass Christian, Miss., it was pointed out today that O'Shaughnessy has had the indorsement of the department throughout the trying period during which he has been head of the American Embassy in the Mexican capital.

It is believed in well informed circles here that the Embassy in Mexico City will not be closed. Despite the handicap under which Charge O'Shaughnessy has been working, he has accomplished much in behalf of American and other foreign interests in Mexico.

One opinion expressed today was that the United States might not be in a position to continue its leadership among the foreign element so well if it should close the Embassy.

Capt. Bradshaw on the Yorktown reported today that unrest continued in Rosendana. Rear Admiral Cowles, on the cruiser Pittsburgh, reported heavy fighting at Mazatlan, but gave no indication of the outcome of the fighting. The cruiser Raleigh has left Mazatlan for Topolamp.

ST. DENIS DANCE OPPOSED

City W. C. T. U. Says It Tends to Lower Standard of Womanhood.

The Dancing of Ruth St. Denis at the Symphony concert on the night of Nov. 22, is characterized by the City W. C. T. U. as tending to lower the standard of womanhood in St. Louis. In a letter of disapproval sent to Max Zach, director of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, in the letter, Zach, as director of the organization that "expresses the highest musical art," is asked "to refuse a repetition of any such appearance."

Arrangements have been completed by the W. C. T. U. for a day of fasting and prayer Sunday, Jan. 15, at the First Presbyterian Church and the Compton Avenue Presbyterian Church, to promote the cause of temperance, in which the organization has enlisted.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Lumbermen Not Willing Lawbreakers.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
In the leading editorial in the Post-Dispatch for Friday evening, Jan. 5, headed, "Injunction Government Halted," occurs the following sentence:

"The denial of the right to trial by jury and the adjudication of guilt on the mere dictum of the court responsible for its issuance have made it a fearful weapon in the hands of prejudiced judges."

And yet the Post-Dispatch on Dec. 25, in referring to the recent lumber case in this State, before a copy of the decision had reached St. Louis and with internal evidence that the writer of the article had never so much as read the so-called lumber code of ethics mentioned in that editorial, commended in laudatory terms the decision as rendered by Supreme Judge Faria. As a matter of fact the case against the lumbermen was tried by quo warranto proceedings and a jury trial denied, although one was demanded by the attorneys for the lumbermen on the very first day when Commissioner Reynolds began to take evidence in the case.

I only want to call the attention of your readers to one or two points in this whole case to show that any citizen of the State of Missouri had ever suffered a dollar's worth by reason of the activities of the Yellow Pine Manufacturers' Association. The defendants in this case were found guilty of curtailing their product during the latter part of 1917 and 1918, when any business man will tell you that the production of everything else was lessened. It was a time when "John Smiths" were the current currency on the street; when the sawmill men could not run their plants simply because they could not get enough money to pay their hands; a time when iron reached the lowest production in years and when prices on pig iron went off $10 a ton, and when the average selling price of yellow pine went off more than $5 a thousand.

A considerable number of yellow pine manufacturers who have been found guilty in this case during all these years acted under the direction and by the advice of the best lawyers they could secure. In the case of the Missouri Lumber and Land Company, and by the by, this case only concerns found guilty in this case having a mill in the State of Missouri—its manager went so far as to ask the Hon. Herbert Knox Smith, then Commissioner of Corporations, to send three of the Government experts to go through the books and correspondence of that company. These experts heard this testimony and to pass on all points of law and make recommendations to the Supreme Court. Special Commissioner of the Supreme Court Robert M. Reynolds in his report to the Supreme Court made use of the following statement: "This is Finding No. 11, quoted on page 116 of the report of Mr. Reynolds to the Supreme Court of Missouri:

"I find that there was no conspiracy, understanding or agreement, expressed or implied, at any time between the defendants among themselves or between any of the defendants with other defendants or with other persons or corporations, to sell the product of their mills or their merchandise at uniform prices, and that there existed free, open, active and active competition in the sale of yellow pine lumber between them."

Anti-trust prosecutions have developed many anomalies, but none more striking than the one shown in this case. W. B. BARNES, Managing Editor St. Louis Lumberman.

A Pointer From Christmas Eve.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
After Miss Rumbold's splendid success New Year's eve it is up to Delegate Gallagher to "do one better." The way to stand in with the people is to work for them. Political fireworks don't go any more. No one of us can realize how far-reaching Miss Rumbold's work is. C. S.

A Practical Subway Suggestion.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I read with interest your article on the new subway being built in New York. I have always thought each city in New York or New St. Louis is neglecting its opportunities in the matter of a subway. Just let's dream of the Frisco, Missouri Pacific and other suburban trains being run with electricity, as the New York suburban trains are. Then, instead of having the suburban trains stop at Union Station, they run through our present subway (the tunnel). A stop is made at a subway station near Eighth and Olive and then again at Bada Bridge. This would give a 30-minute service to downtown from suburban towns at a low cost. This could all be accomplished with an insignificant sum, as compared with New York's expenditure, as the subway, or tunnel, is already built to bring the trains downtown. The trouble with the tunnel has always been the smoke of the engines. With electric trains this nuisance would be eliminated. This would be one of the biggest things that could be easily done for the advancement of St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS SUBWAY.

FRISCO REORGANIZATION.

It is reported that the Frisco is to be reorganized and taken out of the hands of receivers at an early date, by the men who helped to throw it into the hands of receivers.

We are told by the same authority that an assessment of from $6,000,000 to $10,000,000 on stockholders will be required to put the system on its feet.

On the other hand, we are told that under receivership management the road is meeting all obligations, is giving good service and has money in its treasury.

Under the circumstances we can hardly credit the report that Judge Sanborn is co-operating with the Frisco looters to get the road back into their possession as soon as possible. We assume that Judge Sanborn would consider all interests, from the smallest stockholders to the general public, in determining what shall be done with a great public service corporation which has been plundered by a lot of financial pirates. We cannot believe that he would co-operate with the pirates to carry out their selfish schemes and to squeeze out weak stockholders who have already suffered heavy losses at their hands.

The outcome of the restitution suits, which Judge Sanborn has ordered the receivers to bring, may avert the necessity of a heavy assessment on stockholders. They may bring to light facts which would exert a strong and beneficial influence on the road's reorganization. What will become of these suits and of the records upon which they are based if the receivership is ended before the suits are tried?

Why should the receivership be rushed to a close before the Frisco report of the Interstate Commerce Commission is submitted to the United States Senate? Would it not smack of scandal?

Meanwhile, the road is doing well and may pay out its own indebtedness under the receivership. In a few months Congress probably will have passed measures now pending which will protect all real railroad interests from financial banditry—a highly desirable safeguard in the case of the Frisco's former managers.

The public no longer tolerates the view that railroads are the proper instruments of get-rich quick schemes and confidence games. They must be managed honestly and efficiently as public service corporations. It is particularly incumbent upon the courts to exercise their power whenever possible to keep the railroads free from the touch or taint of the conspiracy of loots.

It is incredible that Judge Sanborn has forgotten the lesson of the receivership conspiracy which so greatly embarrassed him when the facts were made public. Embarrassments of this kind do not add luster to the record of court receiverships. Railroads should come clean from the hands of Judges.

HUMANITY TO HORSES.

A bill has been prepared, for introduction in the Municipal Assembly, prohibiting teamsters or others while driving, handling or directing horses, from carrying clubs or other blunt, heavy instruments, in lieu of the ordinary whip, to compel the animals to obedience. A law should be passed, and enforced, embodying such a prohibition.

The police and humane societies should have full legal support in the work of preventing the torture of draft animals.

THINK IT OVER.

Comptroller Player's plea that new park purchases be postponed until, under a new city charter, all or part of the cost can be assessed against benefited property near each new park site is at least worthy of serious consideration.

It is in line with the best modern theory and practice of city management, at home and abroad. Wherever a new park is opened it adds largely to the value of surrounding property, privately owned.

If the St. Louis city government, under a new charter, is to become a business institution, managed as intelligently as any prosperous private business, it will find a way to collect, for the public treasury, at least a part of the new values its undertakings create.

The question is not whether St. Louis shall have more small parks and playgrounds in the congested district, but whether the city can afford to wait a year or two longer to get them on more equitable terms than by a general bond issue.

THE MUNICIPAL LODGING HOUSE.

If it is true that the St. Louis Municipal Lodging House is attracting large numbers of tramps from other cities, who have no desire to work and are a menace to citizens, the evil can be remedied by a change in the management of the institution. The ordinance providing for the lodging house, as the Post-Dispatch has pointed out, makes it obligatory for the Superintendent to "endeavor to obtain employment for all persons to whom relief may be given," and the ordinance states that "further assistance shall not be given to any man who has refused to accept proper employment." The lodging house authorities are also instructed to "co-operate with the State Free Employment Bureau and other agencies in securing employment for all men lodged by the city."

Those who are well but refuse to work should be sent to the workhouse.

In other words, the Municipal Lodging House is not merely to be what has been called "a free flop," with a dose of food, offered indiscriminately to all who come, without further responsibility for the city's interest and the welfare of the unfortunate. It is and must be a clearing house for floating labor. The mere routine of seeing that the beds are clean and the food sufficient does not exhaust the duties of the Superintendent and his assistants. In creating this institution, the Municipal Assembly made it a municipal employment agency. If that fact is lost sight of, it will undoubtedly become a menace to the community. Managed as the law directs, making willingness to work a test, it will rather tend to keep the tramp and panhandler out of St. Louis.

CABARAO RULE AT HOME.

"Civilizing 'em with a Krag" is not peculiar to the Philippines. It appears they have been doing it in West Virginia, almost within the shadow of the national capital. Senator Borah officially confirms it.

The Senator reports to the Senate that during 1912 and 1913 West Virginia military authorities, directed by the Governor, who seems to have been directed by the associated mine owners, established martial law when and where "there was no evidence that the civil courts had been intimidated, or that they would have failed to perform their duty faithfully." He adds:

"During the reign of martial law a number of individuals were arrested, tried, convicted, sentenced and punished for offenses alleged to have been committed by them."

"That the parties were arrested on orders issued by the military authorities and not by virtue of any warrant issued by the civil authorities or from the established courts of the State, and were put upon their trial, without the finding of an indictment by a grand jury, before a courtmartial created by the order of the commander-in-chief and composed of individuals selected by him."

"That in rendering judgment and assessing punishment the parties were punished, by terms of imprisonment unknown to the statutes, in excess of the punishment provided for such offenses under the laws of the State."

The Senator doesn't understand. The Governor and the associated mine owners were not trying to have the laws administered "faithfully," they were trying to break a strike.

When they neglected to have a man indicted and tried by a jury of his peers, it is only fair to presume they did it because they felt sure they couldn't "get him" that way.

And when they sent their victim to prison for 20 years, for an offense which the law punishes with only two years, they did so not to express contempt for the laws, but to terrorize the strikers.

When they appealed from the civil courts to the Krag-Jorgensen, they did it because they were afraid to resort to the courts to protect what they conceived to be their property rights. They took the short cut. Thus:

They own the mines.

They own the land the mining towns stand on.

They own the roads leading into those towns.

They own the huts the miners live in.

They own the stores the miners' wives trade in.

They own the schools—such as they are—that the miners' children study in.

They own the few churches in which the miners and their families assemble to worship their Creator.

They own the graveyards in which the miners bury their dead.

If they did not exactly own the Governor, they at least got him his nomination, and felt they had a property right in him, to the extent of requiring him as commander in chief to use the State troops doing their work.

They think they own the miners, because they control the miners' jobs and their condition of life.

When "anarchists" like Borah and other Senators presume to meddle with the right of the associated mine owners of West Virginia to "do what they please with their own property," we feel that these respectable gentlemen are entitled to a full and exact statement of the facts. This is a free country.

A JACKSON-DAY OBSERVANCE.

Warden D. C. McClung's remarkable review of the past year, in which he referred to Missouri rocks and rills and Gov. Major, has been followed up after a brief interval with another proclamation to the Democracy of the State on Jackson day, in which he gets his wires crossed on chronology, diction and rhetoric.

If Mr. McClung means to continue these prison-made papers from time to time in indefinite series, he should make a less painful effort to disassociate himself in his capacity as Warden from his capacity as chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee. For, of course, should he write as chairman with a full consciousness that he is also Warden, he would not be unmindful of the presence in his big family of convicts of a man who can be a great help to him in his literary labors. This is a man who won a considerable following for himself in the State a few weeks ago. If the work of preparing, or at least revising, the papers should be turned over to him, the Warden would be assured of proclamations marked by good taste, by a discriminating use of words and phrases and especially by quality of appeal and force.

We refer, of course, to the man who, under the signature "A Prisoner," wrote the Post-Dispatch the several graphic letters giving the public an inside view of the mismanagement, cruelty and deception that characterize the conduct of the penitentiary. Jackson day will be a good day on which to renew the war on inhumanity to convicts and the domination of the prison by a contractors' ring.

Evansville, Ind., where are located the biggest steam shovel, furniture, buggy and broom factories in the country, is this week proud of an 82-page issue of its leading paper, the Evansville Courier. It tells of the growth of Evansville during the past year, giving the reader a well illustrated account of the city's best features, industries and buildings. St. Louis, only 165 miles away, hears with pleasure of Evansville's great and growing success.

A MISTAKEN POLICY.

We find the following announcement occupying a high-priced page in a daily newspaper:

"The New Year will find the United Railways Co. using every endeavor to transport its passengers with safety, swiftness and satisfaction."

A noble sentiment, truly, but one more directly expressed in an actual increase and improvement of service than in paid newspaper broadsides.

A public utility company which lives up to that ideal has no need to spend its stockholders' money propitiating the newspapers. A company which doesn't will find—as Mr. Mellen found after he had spent several hundred thousands of dollars of the New Haven's money this way—that the money was wasted.

'Tis mine to list to Jones the bore,
To greet his stories with a roar,
And, greatly daring, ask for more—
I am the host.

'Tis mine to bid the guests sit down
In honeyed tones;
To carve the liver wing for Brown,
The breast for Jones;
To heap the plates with dainties rare;
To give each man the gourmet's share;
And make my dinner from the bare Residual fare.

I hover round the evening through,
A silent ghost;
Complacently endured by few,
Ignored by most;
But let them flout me as they will,

That is to host the bill—

Though not the best,
Not mine to hint by word or sign Abating zest.
'Tis mine to ask from what dim past
Such nectar comes to us at last,
And drink with Ahi and eyes upcast—
I am the guest.

'Tis mine to compliment the host
Upon the spread;
To feign a relish for the roast
And praise the bread;
To shut my eyes and trust to fate,
When wine is poured, and food is set,
Though e'er the night eventuate
I may be dead.

As Job still patiently forebore,
I stand the test
Of hospitality's fell store
Of food and jest;
But let them laugh who may discern
My least betrayal of concern—
I can be true to them in turn—
I am the guest!

NOT MUCH OF A TRAPPIST.

What Mr. Colby tells us of the Trappist in politics is very interesting, but we don't think much of Col. Roosevelt as an example of the type. Young Mr. Mitchell we don't know. He may be very much of a monk. Mr. Wilson, we think, is a Trappist. We have often times made that observation ourselves. But Col. Roosevelt is not much of a monk. It is true, as Mr. Colby says, that he does not smoke, and we have the inspiring incident in support of the belief that he does not drink. It is also true that he knows how to live 24 hours a day, and we have all marveled greatly at his efficiency. Still, he has such a good time!

IF IT HAD HAPPENED BEFORE.

If you could remember the summer, fall and winter of 1914, you could remember when the weather of this year was duplicated," says John Gilmore, a venerable citizen of Calloway County. "That year we had a dreadful drought, and we raised practically no corn. There were lots of acorns, though, and hogs fattened well in the woods. The fall was warm and damp, just like this one has been, though possibly there was not so much rain. It was so warm up to Christmas time that we could not kill hogs. The last end of the winter was mild, too, and all that the weather man has to do to make this season parallel the year 1914 is to give us mild weather the rest of this winter."—Fulton (Mo.) Gazette.

Two motorists, having almost ruined their tempers and their tires in a vain attempt to find a hotel with a vacant bed, were at last forced to make the best of a small inn. Even then they had to share a bed which was—and on this the landlady laid great stress—feather bed. They turned in, and one of the pair was soon fast asleep; the other was not. He could not manage to dodge the lumps, and heard hour after hour strike on the church clock, until 3 o'clock in the morning, when he also struck. He did this by violently shaking his snoring friend.

"What's the matter?" growled the other. "It can't be time to get up yet!" "No, it isn't," retorted his friend, continuing to shake him; "but it's my turn to sleep on the feather!"—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

The U. S. Treasury Department is sending out its income tax blanks, and returns must be in by March 1. Blessed are the poor; their lot is improving every minute.

Gen. Ortega, who was in a fair way to chase the Federals across the Rio Grande the other day, has fallen back on the second page.

"Do you know him?"
"Not really; I have never had any differences with him."
"Does your husband tell the truth?"
"No, he is a great person for peace."

YOKUM'S FEEBLE DEFENSE.

From the Financial World.

Acknowledging that his profit through syndicate participations was but $33,124, a smaller amount than his critics charge him with making, B. F. Yokum, the ex-president of the Frisco, defends his position in an eight-page letter to stockholders by declaring that it was necessary, even though a director and their president participated, to form these syndicates to raise capital. He also throws a sop to the stockholders by announcing his belief in the Frisco and that it will work out to everyone's satisfaction if given time.

Yokum says it is not his desire to avoid any responsibility for his acts, or even share them with anyone. The principle he followed may be wrong now, he thinks, but it was the common practice a short while back.

A weak defense, which is lightened somewhat by Mr. Yokum's frankness in recognizing that criticism of his actions is not unmerited. But while practices may change, human character never does change. Men centuries ago regarded acts of those whom they confided a trust and used it for their own advantage as inconsistent with honorable dealings. Time has not changed the moral aspect of the matter.

THE CURRENT BILL'S AUTHORS.

From the New York World.
Woodrow Wilson was born at Staunton, Va., in 1856. Robert L. Owen, chairman of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee, was born at Lynchburg, Va., in 1858. Carter Glass, chairman of the corresponding committee of the House, was born at Lynchburg, Va., in 1858.

Other men had much to do with the enactment of the new banking and currency law, but these three, born with it in 18 miles each other, two of them in the same year, had the greatest responsibilities. One is President, elected from New Jersey, another is a Senator from Oklahoma, a State not dreamed of in his youth, and the other, a Representative, still lives in his native town.

In a country so vast and so new as this, Fate plays many pranks, but in all its history there have been few coincidences more interesting.

THE DURABILITY OF FURS.

From the London Times.

The durability of furs varies enormously and has little relation to price. For example, ermine and chinchilla, both of which fall in the rare-fur class, stand respectively at $5 and $15 in a table where skunk is 10 and beaver $1. In this table we see, with its water hairs, is taken at 100. Here is the list in full:

Sea otter	100	Mink	10
Beaver	10	Opus	10
From the London Times.

The durability of furs is reduced by artificial coloring. The baum marten, which in a natural state stands at $6, in the table is only of about $4. The amount of fur needed for a half-length coat of average girth is 15 square feet; for a full-length motor coat 27 square feet are required.

Teaching and Learning.

England's poet laureate proposes to teach London how to speak English. As easy, perhaps, as teaching him to write poetry.

Robson or Underwood.

The defeat of Underwood would be such a pity that it can hardly happen, but the elimination of Robson would be almost too good to be true.

Champ is Frank.

From the Chicago Record-Herald.
Champ Clark admits that he is lecturing for revenue only, thus permitting it to be known that he is not ashamed of his Democratic principles.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

DATES.

P. E.—Christ is supposed to have been born in the year 4 B. C., this queer date having been arrived at by the erroneous calculation of time, which was calculated from the birth of Christ. The exact date of the birth of Christ is unknown. Among the early churches the date of the birth of Christ was celebrated in April or May, each of these churches having its own date. The date of the birth of Christ was celebrated in April or May, each of these churches having its own date. The date of the birth of Christ was celebrated in April or May, each of these churches having its own date.

HEALTH HINTS.
J. P.—Remedy in troublesome flatulence is 10 or 15 minims of oil of capsaicin in a capsule or on a lump of sugar; another is 1 to 5 grains of hyoscin. The same dose of chloral hydrate will also relieve. Charcoal has benefited some cases.

SUFFERER.—Apoplexy is sudden loss or diminution of a sensation and the power of voluntary motion. It is generally also of consciousness, usually the result of pressure on the brain, or of cerebral hemorrhage or effusions; a comatose condition; stroke of paralysis; also, a hemorrhage into the substance of any organ.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

MRS. C. P.—Wash your face and hair with soap and water.

EVERLYN.—To be rid of tin cans: A bright Indiana woman says: We burn them in connection with soft coal. As the fumes of the cans are very small, we fill the cans with coal before putting it in the fire. It takes a can about two hours to burn up and smoke. It is red-hot most of the time it is burning. Even if the cans were of no value for throwing off heat, it is well for us to know that we can burn them up instead of letting them pile up in our back yards to be hauled away finally to add to the unsightliness of dump heaps.

READER.—Give fern plenty of winter sun. Always water fern from the bottom, which can be done by placing the fern pot in a vessel two inches deep and keeping water always in the vessel. By so doing the fern will grow and will grow nicely. Never pour water on the soil. Occasionally sprinkle or wet the leaves to keep them from drying.

It is said that ferns may be kept fresh by giving them a steaming of three hours. Once an expert from the States should be put into the bathroom, butting his windows with a hot water bottle. The fern should be placed in the bathroom and should not be cooled suddenly after this is done. By treating the ferns in this bath it will give out a strong odor and spray the leaves, which does not give so satisfactory a result.

NO NAME.—So far as the forged deed is concerned, it could convey no valid title; but you are entitled to a rebate on all previous money.

R. H. P.—The tax of $11.11 is collected as to the same is probably for another person as no poll tax is paid in this State. Pay the $11.11 and not the other.

G. W. S.—Tariff on dog, 10 per cent. If the dog is imported from a foreign country, the dog is admitted free. If you have not the certificate and the dog is imported from a foreign country, it duty will be refunded. Only collies are inspected by the Bureau of Animal Industry.

CYTRON.—A miner has as much right to purchase shares of stock or any other thing of value as a person of age has. An adult dealing with a minor should be careful, as the minor can expect to sue and to be held strictly to account and may also in event of a suit be unable to enforce it against such minor.

READER.—You can be sued for debts contracted by you from your commissions due you from employee furnished. If the employee has been 5 years old they are outlawed and creditors cannot collect. On running accounts from firms, you can sue for the 5 years being to run from date of last purchase.

MISCELLANEOUS.

E. S.—Slayer Loper not found.

AURELIA.—Some reader may tell you how to stretch and stiffen derby hat.

DISGUSTED READER.—Try State Free Employment Office in East St. Louis.

L. M.—Phone art stores and the museum in regard to water color exhibitions.

P. E. S.—Post-Dispatch cannot be mailed early enough for the train you mention.

N. F. P.—Nobunism musician must personally solicit employment if advertising fails.

READER.—We have no address for an examination for "first aid to the injured" certificate.

T. P. A.—By reason road to Holls, 100 miles; to Ironton, 100. We do not know the other distance you ask.

EXCELLENCE.—We do not know your notes for a debate agree to it. Compare if both parties agree to it.

JOHANN.—Japan gold coin is used to make gold leaf adhere to glass. It must remain on the glass until it becomes tacky before it is applied.

C. B.—Access to subscription lists of agricultural papers would give you addresses of many farmers. The Bureau may have the names of all United States farmers.

ROSE.—Concrete blocks are said to be healthful. We have had no personal experience with them. We have received no complaints as to them. Any brick house is more or less damp.

BESSIE.—Glycerin or the beaten white of an egg colored with turpentine ink will work wonders in the way of renovating leather (real or imitation) book covers, or other things, and many other things, if applied with a soft cloth and thoroughly rubbed.

I. E.—In Yellowstone Park 25 buffalo are running wild. In Alaska, Canada, there are 100 wild buffalo. Hawkes estimates that at one time there must have been 100,000 of these animals of the bison tribe. From what is now the State of New York, the bison were driven to the Rocky Mountains, and even into the Cascade range, where they were later killed by the army officer riding through the Dakotas and Montana.

Another tale of one vast assembly of these great beasts was that of 70,000 long and 30 miles wide. For three days and nights they thundered by each other, and the earth was in a ravine, not daring to stir outside for fear of being crushed.

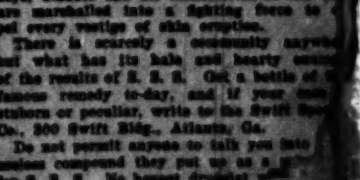

to grip under the myriad hoofs the migrating "bison Americans."

THE JARR FAMILY

By ROY L. M'CARDELL

Mr. Jarr Escapes at Midnight From His Happy Home.

"TOM JARR'S somewhat sitting in Mr. Silver's racing car," said Miss Irene Cackberry, as she looked down from the Jarr's front window to the street below, the evening light of the party.

Dr. Gilbert Gumm, the affable dentist of the neighborhood, followed the in-chance gaze of the ladies; Mr. Jarr's home Cackberry knew it was rude to look.

Anyway, she had both hands clamped on her pretty pink nails were punching her pretty pink palms to the point of perforation. The reason being that Gladys Cackberry, the elder sister, was holding Jack Silver, the dashing young wealthy bachelor friend of the Jarrs, by both coat lapels.

The rest of the assembled guests, especially the women, whispered that the girl (the sister that squinted, not the one that had such a bad complexion) had captured the dashing millionaire!

Mr. Rangle had this information whispered into his ear as he lingered by the bowl of spiked claret punch. Whereupon John W. Rangle was heard to declare:

"There ain't no such animal as a millionaire! If there be he doesn't haunt this neck of the woods. Would I be here if I had a dollar and a half?"

All these byplays occurred on the outer edge of the party in the back parlor of the Jarr flat, and at the windows and against the wall, for Mr. Pinkfinger was playing the Argentine Tango.

The Jarr flat was one of those old-fashioned, spacious ones. With all the furniture out the piano flat against the wall, four couples could almost dance. With the piano on the mantel piece, were that possible, four couples could have danced.

Herbert Trenton looked so much like the pictures of the dainty young men whose portraits advertise haberdashery in the street cars that all present said Mr. Pinkfinger wouldn't put on any airs while that young man was present. Mr. Pinkfinger might learn to his chagrin that others could play the piano.

"Is that Jack Silver's chauffeur down there?" asked Dr. Gumm of Mr. Jarr. Mr. Jarr gave a careless look down on the street, as though to imply he could tell at a glance every chauffeur his millionaire friend had.

"No, that isn't Raoul nor Dick," said Mr. Jarr. "I don't think Jack Silver ever takes a driver with his high power racer. That's his Jap valet, Sukkatohi. Faithful fellow, you know, one of the 'Summer-eye'."

"What kind of an eye is that?" asked Dr. Gilbert Gumm.

"You know, the noble Japanese that run around sticking swords in their stomachs if the honorable silk worms are off their feed," explained Mr. Jarr. "I think Japanese things are just too sweet for anything!" gushed Miss Irene Cackberry. "I saw a black silk kimono opera cape with embroidered wild roses in pink and white! Oh, I wish SOME ONE would buy it and surprise me with it! It was only $9—"

"I had a Japanese client the other day," said Dr. Gumm (painless dentist never call them "patients"). The minute I made an examination I said: "Haven't you ear trouble?"

"Wouldn't it be great fun to go take a ride in Mr. Silver's big car?" interrupted Irene Cackberry, seeing the dentist wasn't interested in buying her a kimono as a belated Christmas gift.

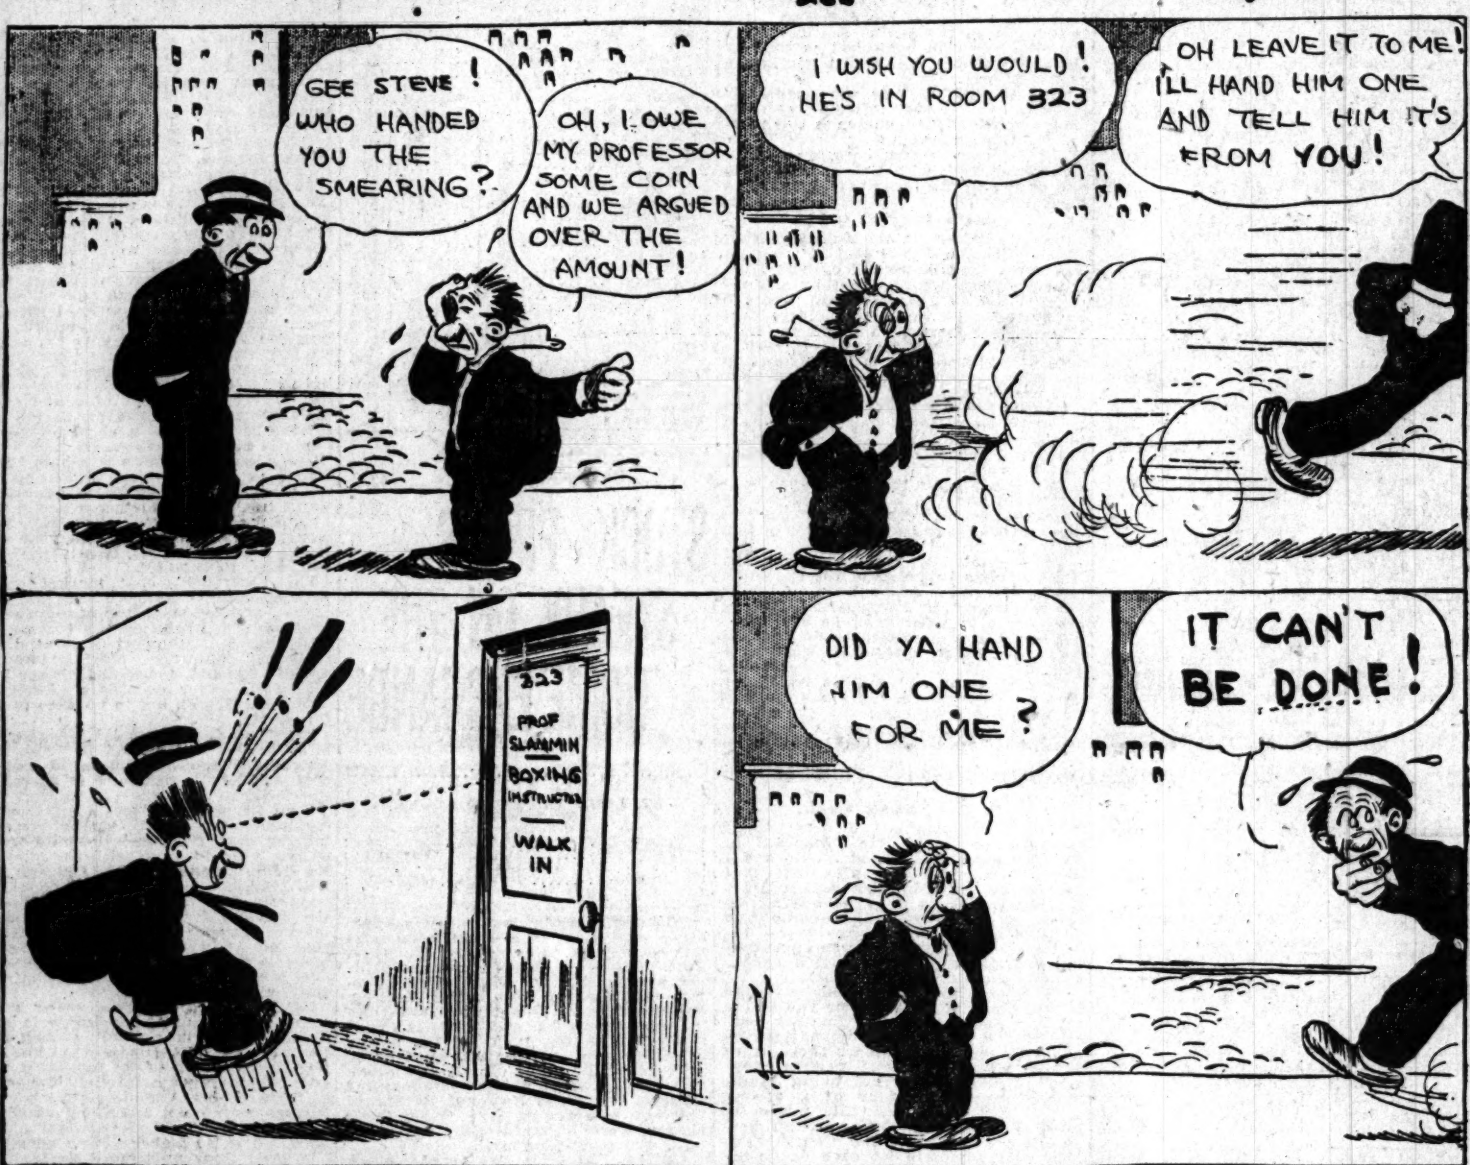

"Sure, go take it for a spin," said Mr. Jarr, generously. "Sukkatohi knows how to run it."

"Come on down with us and see us off," suggested Dr. Gumm, who wanted to borrow a few dollars for prospective expenses.

So while the dance was on and mid-winter social gaiety was at its height, as the society explained, replied Mr. Jarr and Dr. Gumm and the youngest Miss Cackberry stole out.

"Every little counts in parcel postage as in New York flats," the Senator continued, smiling. "I know a New York man who, on his return from the rooming house of Washington, said, fretfully, to his servant: "Jameson, this flat seems much smaller than when I moved into it last summer."

"Yes, sir," Jameson answered, "quite so, sir. But you must remember, sir, that you are wearing your winter underclothing now, sir."
